

Harvest Poem

Harvest is a celebration with crops corn and fruit galore.

Autumn has golden bright colours and more, crispy leaves scattered all over the floor .

With corn as golden as Goldilock's hair with the sun shining in the air.

In America harvest is called Thanks-giving which is when families sit around the table eating.

Cabbages and beans, tomatoes and peas, other things that farmers gather which are good to eat.

Emily Sutton