

I would like to paint...

I would like to paint a horse galloping across the desolate moor
It's mane whipping in the howling, darting, icy wind.

I would like to paint a crowd bustling
It's anticipation rising, bubbling waiting for the event.

I would like to paint a world war two pilot
Bullets whistling past the cockpit glass, his plane diving, swooping, rolling his fear heart wrenching.

I would like to paint a whale,
Banking in mid slow-motion jump it's white corrugated stomach, causing a de-formed water crown.

I would like to paint a salmon
The determination in its eye's as it battles the currents of the frothing, fighting watery ribbon of aqua-marine drenching fall.

Rowan